

California's Health Plans are Part of the Solution in Achieving Universal Health Care Coverage

Universal health care coverage is closer than ever in California

94%

Record breaking number of Californians having health coverage.

17.5% (2013)
to 6% (2020)

Drop in uninsured Californians driven by the implementation of the Affordable Care Act, financial help from the American Rescue Plan, and California Health Plan support for policies designed to close the uninsured gap.

1,000,000

Health plan enrollment in California grew by over 1 million in 2020 in the middle of the COVID-19 pandemic and recession.

Did you know California Health Plans...

- 1. Supported policies as California became one of the few states that has expanded health care coverage to all residents up to 26 years old and those 50 years of age and over, regardless of immigration status?
- 2. Support the state's Individual Shared Responsibility Requirement - a key component to reaching California's goal of universal health care?
- 3. Advocate for policies and programs that continue to bring California closer to universal coverage while protecting and lowering health care costs?

These actions by health plans are helping to bring California closer than ever to achieving universal health care coverage.
